Transnational Cinemas
Volume 4 Number 2

Editorial

143–145 Latin American cinemas today: Reframing the national
SARAH BARRON and TAMARA L. FALICOV

147–148 From ‘Expression en Corto’ to Guanajuato International Film Festival: The rise of regional support for Mexican cinema in national and international contexts
JEAN ANNE LAUER

149–150 The first rule of Latin American cinema is: you don’t talk about Latin American cinema: Notes on discussing a sense of place in contemporary cinema
JEFFREY MIDDENTS

151–154 Sex, taxes and money, funding and Latin American queer cinema: The cases of Martel’s La niña santa and Puenzo’s XXY
DEBORAH SHAW

155–159 Debunking neo-imperialist or reaffirming neo-colonialist? The representation of Latin America in recent co-productions
STEPHANIE DENNISON

160–164 New configurations for Peruvian cinema: The rising star of Claudia Llosa
SARAH BARRON

165–184 Transnational virtual mobility as a reification of deployment of power: exploring transnational processes in the film Sleep Dealer
LIBIA VILLAZANA

185–195 Framing childhood, mediating identity: Re-imagining the family in Gustavo Loza’s Al otro lado
NuALA FINNEGAN

Articles

197–215 Film Studies

217–230 New configurations for Peruvian cinema: The rising star of Claudia Llosa
SARAH BARRON

231–252 Transnational virtual mobility as a reification of deployment of power: exploring transnational processes in the film Sleep Dealer
LIBIA VILLAZANA

253–271 Framing childhood, mediating identity: Re-imagining the family in Gustavo Loza’s Al otro lado
NuALA FINNEGAN

265–269 Framing childhood, mediating identity: Re-imagining the family in Gustavo Loza’s Al otro lado
NuALA FINNEGAN

271–293 Cinemación as Construcción/“Films in Progress”: How Spanish and Latin American film-makers negotiate the construction of a globalized art house aesthetic
TAMARA L. FALICOV

295–305 Cinemación as Construcción/“Films in Progress”: How Spanish and Latin American film-makers negotiate the construction of a globalized art house aesthetic
TAMARA L. FALICOV

Reviews

311–313 Cinema in Inter-American Relations: Tracking Transnational Affect, Adrian Pérez Moctezuma (2012)

316–322 Contemporaneous queer cinema: Some notes on recent scholarship

Index